

The dataset is already available with this project. The code is written in python2. The libraries required are opencv, numpy, matplotlib.pyplot. On running the code the accuracy percentage of the test set already available with this project is given. Some sections of the code can be uncommented to get face class of any other face image of same size and centered in similar way.